

INGID News – August 2019

INGID are proud to say they are a truly international organisation. Board members are based in South Africa, United Kingdom, United States of America, the Netherlands and Australia.

Full details of the Brussels 2019 programme is available on the following link:

INGID are very grateful to ESID for support provided which means two nurses from emerging countries who would not otherwise be able to attend the conference in Brussels this year.

INGID look forward to a dynamic presentation from our keynote speaker this year, Ms Anna Gregorowski, where the focus will be on supporting people living with ID to manage their condition and the complex role the nurse plays within that.

INGID look forward to Celebrating international year of the Nurse 2020. 2020 was chosen, as this is the 200th anniversary of Florence Nightingale's birth and the culmination of the Nursing Now Campaign. More information on the WHO web site is available at http://apps.who.int/gb/e/e_eb144.html

Ms Carla Duff, president of INGID is currently preparing events for world PI week 2020: April 22, 2020-April 29, 2020. In April 2019, physicians, nurses, patients, and families from over 48 countries came together to advocate for primary immunodeficient patients. April 2020 will be the 10th anniversary of World PI Week and will continue to focus on ensuring patients have direct access to the care and life-saving therapies, they need. We will continue to provide education and raise awareness of primary Immunodeficiencies around the globe.

Ms. Carla Duff attended the Academy of American Allergy, Asthma, and Immunology in San Francisco, CA USA in February 2019 where she provided hands on SCIg training to physicians and nurses as well as provided education on distinguishing a primary immunodeficiency from other disease states.

Ms Dorothea Grouse- Krueel on behalf of INGID recently hosted our first advisory board in conjunction with a large pharmaceutical company. While the details of this are not yet available, INGID will be working closely with this organisation to provide resources that will benefit both nurses and patients in turn. Further details to follow.

INGID representation at upcoming international meetings:
