

Dear Members of the European Society for Immunodeficiencies,

I hereby express my sincere interest in the position of Secretary for the European Society for Immunodeficiencies (ESID). Over the years, my involvement with ESID has been one of the most rewarding aspects of my professional life, and I am eager to continue contributing to our community in this new capacity.

As many of you know, I have had the privilege of serving as the Chair of ESID Juniors for four years. During this time, I collaborated with colleagues across different disciplines and regions to develop educational resources, organize events, and create opportunities for networking and professional growth. Working closely with both junior and senior members of ESID has allowed me to understand the diverse needs of our community and to build strong relationships that will be invaluable in pursuing our collective goals.

My ongoing involvement in generating educational materials and participating in the organization of ESID events has deepened my appreciation for the strength and potential of our society and our shared mission to improve the lives of patients with primary immunodeficiencies. I have always been inspired by the willingness of ESID members to share their knowledge, support one another, and work together toward common goals. It is this spirit of collaboration that I hope to continue fostering as part of the ESID board.

I am committed to helping ESID prepare for future challenges and opportunities, ensuring that our society remains at the forefront of research, education, and clinical care. As Secretary, I will work diligently to support the board and our members in advancing this mission.

I am well-acquainted with the organizational structure of ESID and am confident in my ability to manage the administrative tasks that come with this role. My experience has equipped me with the skills necessary to facilitate effective communication, maintain accurate records, and support the board in ensuring that our society operates smoothly.

The opportunity to serve as Secretary would allow me to continue contributing to the growth and success of ESID. I believe that our field, society, and patients will benefit from our ability to work together, and I would be excited about the possibility of supporting this collaborative effort in an official capacity.

Thank you for considering my application. I am eager to continue working alongside each of you to advance our shared mission and support the important work of ESID.

Yours sincerely,

Peter Olbrich
