

To whom it may concern,

I would like to take this opportunity to nominate myself for the position of ESID junior country representative for Czech Republic. I hope to use this position to strengthen the bonds of the small PID community in Czechia with scientists and clinical specialists from other countries. The Czech Republic has a vibrant community of young immunologists and sadly, the topic of PIDs lacks the attention it deserves from the other immunologists. Therefore, I would also love to increase the interest of other immunologists from our country in PIDs to facilitate future co-operation with them.

As part clinician and part scientist in the biggest Czech hospital, I believe I have the ideal position to bridge the two specialities together and to be a productive and beneficial member of the group of junior country representatives.

Thank you in advance for your consideration,

Ondřej Vladyka
