Dear Members of the ESID Selection Committee,

I am writing to express my strong interest in the position of ESID Junior Country Representative. As a clinical immunologist at the University Children's Hospital in Krakow, Poland, I have dedicated my career to advancing the field of immunodeficiencies, particularly in pediatric patients. I am excited about the opportunity to contribute to ESID's mission and collaborate with a network of esteemed professionals to improve patient care and promote research in this vital area of medicine.

Throughout my career, I have consistently sought to expand my knowledge and expertise in immunology. I have had the privilege of being awarded research scholarships at UCL and Royal Free Hospital, which provided me with invaluable experience and insights into the latest advancements in our field. Additionally, I completed an internship in the cytometry laboratory at University College Dublin, further enhancing my technical skills and understanding of complex immunological processes.

One of my primary motivations for seeking the position of ESID Junior Country Representative is my commitment to fostering collaboration and knowledge sharing among professionals in the field. I believe that my experience, both in clinical practice and research, positions me well to contribute effectively to ESID's initiatives. My work with patients suffering from immunodeficiencies has reinforced the importance of a multidisciplinary approach, and I am eager to bring this perspective to the role.

Moreover, my international experiences have equipped me with a global perspective on immunodeficiency care and research. I have seen firsthand the impact of diverse healthcare systems and research environments, and I am enthusiastic about leveraging this understanding to benefit ESID and its members. I am confident that my dedication, combined with my professional and academic background, will enable me to represent my country effectively and contribute to the society's goals.

In addition to my professional qualifications, I possess strong communication and interpersonal skills, which I believe are essential for a role that involves representing and engaging with a broad community of professionals. I am committed to promoting ESID's values and initiatives and to working collaboratively with fellow representatives to drive forward our shared objectives.

Thank you for considering my application. I am eager to bring my passion, expertise, and dedication to the role of ESID Junior Country Representative. I look forward to the opportunity to further discuss how I can contribute to the society and its mission.

Sincerely,

Justyna Błach
