

Adriel Roa-Bautista obtained his Medical Degree (Cum Laude) from the Universidad Iberoamericana (UNIBE) in Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic. Subsequently pursued advanced training in Immunology at the Marques de Valdecilla University Hospital in Santander, Spain. Adriel holds a master's in biomedical and health sciences, along with a University Master's in Allergy. Currently, is one of the module coordinators and lecturers of the Allergy and Clinical Immunology MSc at Cork University, Ireland and at present is a clinical Fellow in Clinical Immunology and Allergy at Manchester Royal Infirmary.